Los Angeles Angels Manager Mike Scioscia's Amateur Baseball Development Group, will be hosting and sponsoring Southwest first Future All-Star Series June 13 & 14 at Cal Lutheran University's Sparky Anderson Field at Ullman Stadium. ABDG has taken a pro active approach in development of baseball in Southern California through grants, clinics, and show case events. These show case events are designed to bring exposure to young baseball players in our region. This year's Future All-Star Series will feature top high school underclassmen from The Southwest bringing professional scouts and college recruiters to the event.
